

Metoclopramide

Settles sickness and helps the gut move

Your vet has prescribed metoclopramide for your pet. It blocks the sickness signals in the brain and helps the stomach empty in the right direction. The label on your pet's medicine always comes first, so keep this with it and ask us anything you're unsure about.

What is it used for?

- Reducing vomiting and nausea.
- Helping the stomach empty and reducing reflux.

How quickly does it work?

- It starts working within about 30 to 60 minutes.

How do I give it?

- Give exactly as the label says, usually 30 minutes before a meal.
- Liquids should be measured carefully.

What if I miss a dose?

- Give it when you remember, unless the next dose is nearly due. In that case skip the missed one.
- Never give two doses together to catch up.
- If your pet vomits soon after a dose, call us before giving another.

Possible side effects

- Restlessness or unusual behaviour.
- Sleepiness or constipation.

Monitoring and check-ups

- Your vet will review whether sickness has settled and may look for the underlying cause.

Important things to know

- Not suitable if there may be a blockage in the gut.
- Tell your vet if your pet has epilepsy.
- Tell your vet about any other medicines, supplements or flea and worm treatments your pet has.
- Store safely out of reach of children and other pets. This medicine is for your pet only.

Your questions answered

- How long can it be used? Usually short term.
- Why is my pet restless? This can be a side effect. Tell us if it's marked.

Call us straight away on 01843 808344 (24/7) if:

- Your pet keeps vomiting, especially if there is blood or a swollen tummy.
- Your pet has muscle twitches, strange movements or a seizure.
- You think your pet (or anyone else) has taken too much.

Mango's Top Tip

Offer small, bland meals after the medicine takes effect. A settled tummy will thank you!
